The DIMMER VIEW

by Max Goodwin

The Electoral College

Don't make any bets that the Jarvis-Gann Proposition (13) is going to fail.

That's the bill that will revolutionize the tax-and-waste arrangement your lawmakers have contrived over the years. You can hardly blame them, though. Traditionally, taxpayers were kept pretty well disorganized because taxes were laid from every direction. Additionally, lawmakers put several layers of government between you and the people who arranged to have your money taken and spent on wasteful projects as well as the good.

Lawmakers who are opposing the Jarvis Proposition will rue the day. The harder they fight the more suspicious the public will become regarding their ability to legislate. The November election will disappoint many present office holders. The day of the easy-come, easy-go with tax dollars probably is over and with it will go many political careers.

Already, on the horizon, is another tradition that should be laid to rest. It's the horse and buggy Electoral College system. Let's allow former Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, John Gardner to tell you "what" and "why". (Gardner is the Founding Chairman of Common Cause).

"If your friend says 'Jimmy Carter was elected President on November 2, 1976 and I voted for him' you have the opportunity to set him straight on two things.

"First, your friend didn't vote for Jimmy Carter but for a slate of electors representing the state in which your vote was cast.

"Second, following a tradition that stems from an era when it took a long time to travel from here to there, those electors (and the electors from all the other states) waited many weeks after the election before they assembled. Having assembled, they constituted the curious antiquity we call the Electoral College, and it was they who voted for Jimmy Carter.

"Did they vote for Jimmy Carter just because you designated them in the full expectation that they would do so? Not necessarily.

"In 1976, the Republican voters of Washington State designated electors who they expected to vote for Ford, but one kicked over the traces when he got to the Electoral College and voted for Reagan. Similar incidents have happened before.

"The Electoral College can elect a President who receives fewer popular votes than his opponent. (A candidate who wins California by 100 popular votes gets more electoral college votes than a candidate who wins New York by a million votes — because he gets all of California's electoral votes which are more than New York's).

"And the electoral college takes no account of voter turnout. Louisiana and Minnesota each have 10 electoral votes. In 1976, 700,000 more voters actually turned out to vote in Minnesota, but nevertheless at Electoral College, each cast 10 votes.

"In order to win a majority of the Electoral College votes, all a candidate needs to do is win pluralities in 11 states with the largest populations (therefore the most electoral votes).

"So candidates tend to focus upon those states and specifically — in each state — upon the bloc of voters most likely to swing the election. This throws undue weight to powerful blocs of voters within a handful of states.

"One could give additional arguments, but the point is clear. Americans had better get used to the idea that the system needs an overhaul. There are various plans for a more rational system — some pretty good plans and some less good. They deserve consideration and debate.

"But the debate never takes place because the American public — up to now — have not been very interested. It's time we woke up. Let's turn to the task of modernizing the electoral college."

Immunization Clinic Set For Lemon Grove Jr. High

The County Health Department will hold a free immunization clinic in room 25 of Grove Junior High School, 7866 Lincoln street.

The clinic, set for Tuesday from 1:15 to 3:15 p.m., will be conducted by the Health Department in cooperation with the Lemon Grove School District.

The director of Public Health, Dr. John R. Philip. said the clinic is open to everyone, not just the students of the school.

"We are very concerned about immunizaing these children," Philip explained. "since surveys have shown that parents wait until their youngsters enter school before having them protected."

Polio, diphtheria, whooping cough, tetanus, rubella (German measles), rubeola (red measles) and mumps immunizations will be given.

Also, adults will be immunized for diphtheria, tetanus and rubeola.

Two Concerts Set for Lemon Grove Musicians

Music students from the Lemon Grove School District will present their talents before area residents in their annual Lemon Grove Music Department Spring Concert set for Wednesday night.

The concert is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. in Lemon Grove Junior High Auditorium and includes presentations from the beginning band, concert band and orchestra.

There is no charge for admission to the performance and the three musical groups are under the direction of Harry Weisgerber.

Also, some 100 Lemon Grove musicians will be participating in the annual Southern California Band and Orchestra Festival held at Saddleback College.

The Mission Viejo college will be the site of the festival on March 17.

The local band and orchestra will be judged in competition by Saddleback College personnel.

Carpeting Stolen

Newly laid carpeting and a door worth $460 were taken Monday from the nearly completed residence being constructed by Thomas Reed Shippen at 453 Paraiso in Spring Valley.

A burglar entered through a front window. Deputies are seeking a beige Chevy camper described by witnesses as being driven by a suspect.

Wine, Money Taken

A thief removed window bars and glass louvres to gain entry into Gaeteno's Italian restaurant at 10025 Campo rd. Saturday night and took $60 in money and wine worth $229.

PALLETS, BOARDS, AND DEBRIS thrown into the Spring Valley Creek drainage system is believed to have caused Saturday's flooding along Sweetwater road. To relieve the drainage problem, the Department of Transportation dug this trench at Blossom and Sweetwater road to reroute water filling a 4 foot pipe at the intersection. Flooding occurred late Saturday afternoon along the Creek and the El Cajon Office of Disaster Preparedness has begun a "windshield survey" to estimate damages.

Local Executive Sees Improvement

Solar Energy Industry Effectiveness Grows

The sun gave precious little support to the solar energy conference (SolarCon) in San Diego a few days ago, however it was termed a success by exhibitors.

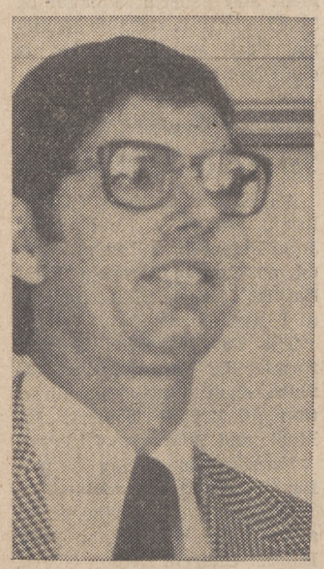
The sun was seldom seen during the long rainy spell but solar energy fans turned out in goodly numbers.

There was a negative side, too. One which bothers the solar industry is a distrust that is building up because some homeowners have solar systems installed that don't work.

Solar systems do work, insist engineers. That fact is supported by technicians and manufacturers.

So what's the rub?

There are installations by inexperienced, inept or dishonest solar technicians and installers. Homeowners who have invested several thousand dollars in systems which won't work are properly disgruntled. The complaints grow louder when the homeowner finds the installing firm has gone out of business or changed firm names to evade the squawks. The negative word gets around fast — but often, it's not fast enough. Unsatisfactory installations are still being made.



Robert Pharr

Now some of the bonafide solar engineers are attempting to right these wrongs.

Robert Pharr, a teacher of solar energy at S.D. City College, a professional energy consultant, and vice president of Lemon Grove's Quality Energy Systems at 7668 Lemon ave., tells about his recent experiences.

His firm recently rebuilt solar installations for two unhappy area residents.

One, a disabled Vietnam War veteran, was using his heated pool for war wound therapy. The solar firm had installed all of the expensive parts but left out some of the inexpensive ones. "This suggests the installer was sincere but lacked knowledge, Pharr said. "We were able to fix it inexpensively."

The second installation also concerned a pool being used for therapy. "We found that some of the solar sytem lines were not hooked up at all and the line that senses temperature was among these. We hooked them up properly and now he has plenty of heat and is delighted with his solar system.

"We have a report from a man who operates a pool maintenance service who says owners of 9 pools he services had a solar system installed by a certain firm. 8 of the owners are dissatisfied," Pharr said.

It's a shame that these things happen. Solar energy is an efficient way to heat homes, household water, pools, spas and jacuzzis. But the systems must be properly designed and installed.

"Systems are providing more energy. We recently installed one that heats the guest house as well as the owner's home.

"Solar energy is only one of the tools that can be used in conservation but. unfortunately, the industry is unregulated and some people are taking advantage of the situation. Building codes are just being written to cover solar energy installations," Pharr said, "and regulations will stop most of the problems that now exist."

Large firms are extremely concerned about the use of energy, he said. They are studying all types of energy conservation. He said Big Bear Markets, Foodmaker, Drew Ford, the University club, Coldwell-Banger and the Lemon Grove Medical Group are among those examining as possibilities including solar energy.

In the case of the L.G. Medical Group, energy conservation practices cut electrical use 55% and gas use by 39%. Maintenance cost was reduced from $189 to $66 a month, he said.

Pharr is on a program with a panel of architects on closed-circuit PBS television. The program, aimed at educators, is "Education Today."

Three High School Pot Users Caught

Three teenage youths, one 15 and two 14, face marijuana charges after one of the younger ones was found to have 5 bags of marijuana plus a partly smoked "joint" in his possession. Sheriff's deputies found the material hidden in his socks and in his pants pocket. He claimed that he thought he had only bought an ounce (a citable offense).

He is being charged with possession and sale of marijuana. The 15-year old was charged with possession and under the influence and the other 14 year old lad was charged with being under the influence.

The arresting officer saw them smoking in a field near Monte Vista High where all 3 attend school and his investigation turned up the evidence.

TV, Stereo Taken

Deborah Jean Douglas of 9332 Jamacha rd., Spring Valley, told police that her television set, stereo equipment and CB radio were taken from her residence on Sunday prior to 3 p.m.

She was away when the items were taken and gave no dollar value to her loss.

Storm Damage Applications Being Taken

The Small Business Administration reminds citizens regarding when and where to file applications for assistance for recent storm damages.

Deadlines for filing applications for storm damages sustained by the private sector — including individuals, businesses, farmers, ranchers, and livestock growers — within the County of San Diego are:

Friday, March 10, for windstorm damages in December 1977, and Monday, April 17, for rainstorm damages between December 26, 1977 and February 13, 1978.

Applications for disaster assistance may be filed at the local office of the Small Business Administration, 720 N. Broadway, Escondido; phone 743-2466. Assistance includes low interest loans provided by the Small Business Adm. and the Farmers Home Disaster Loan Program.

The State Office of Emergency Services will handle claims for assistance from the public sector for damages to public buildings, streets, roads, and utilities.

R-1-A Zoning Concern Attracts City Residents

The Lemon Grove City Council zipped through the first reading of a business license ordinance Monday night but heard at length from a varied group of residents who had a reaction to the proposed R-1-A zoing which would affect approximately 80% of all land in Lemon Grove.

Most favored the zoning but some who spoke at the meeting were caught up mid-way in the action.

For instance M. R. Vandervliet is building a duplex at one end of his one-acre Sarawak dr. property. He intends to split the property after he moves into his duplex. He claims that he would be forced to remove one kitchen, take out wiring attached to it and remove one set of utility meters before the split would be granted.

Mayor Jim Dorman reminded him that he had the option of requesting a variance when the split was needed. Vandervliet then complained that it would cost him $135 in fees to make the request. But he decided to follow the mayor's advice. The council then passed the interim R-1-A zoning ordinance unanimously.

The council authorized the mayor to sign a franchise agreement with Mission Cable Television. It is believed the city will get 3% of the cable revenue in the city.

Use of the Community Center without the $5 fee had been requested by the Chicano Federation during the past several council meetings. City manager Jack Shelver offered a fee schedule which was approved by the council. The $5 fee will be required from all except for city-county committees concerned with city business and groups open to public participation in which 50% or more of the members are Lemon Grove residents.

The business license ordinance — a 21-page document —will require a base fee of $15 plus $2 an employee up to 50 persons from most city businesses.

Out-of-town persons not having a fixed place of business in the city who deliver goods, ware or merchandise of any kind by vehicle or provide service for the use of vehicles will pay $40 for each vehicle, except for wholesale vehicle deliveries. The latter being $15 a year.

Ice cream carts and vending vehicles will pay $200 annually.

A group of professionals, such as dental and medical doctors, attorneys, accountants, engineers, insurance salesmen, opticians, veterinarians and others.

Every peddler, solicitor and transient merchant must be licensed. Those owning real property in the city will pay $10 a year. Those with none will pay a license fee of $40.

There will be a $25 a machine for vending machine operating in the city and $25 for each music or amusement machine.

The complete ordinance will be published in this newspaper if the ordinance is adopted by the council at the next meeting.

Councilman Dell Lake asked the council to consider naming the yet-to-be developed park east of Skyline and north of Jamacha blvd. Eppick Park after the name of the former owners of the property. The request was referred to staff.

The next council meeting will be at 7:30 March 20 at the Community Center on School lane.

LG Kiwanis Pancake Breakfast Fund-Raiser Set for Saturday

Lemon Grove Kiwanis Club will serve their 24th annual pancake breakfast on Saturday.

Scheduled from 7 a.m.-2 p.m., the pancake fund raiser will be held in the auditorium of Lemon Grove Junior High School, School lane and Central avenue. Unlimited parking is available in the school parking lot.

Ham and sausage will be served with the flapjacks, plus "all the coffee you can drink", and milk for the kiddies. Second serving of flapjacks will be free.

Kiwanis Club President Duke Duggan invited all to the breakfast with this reminder.

"All of this only costs a mere $1.50," Duggan said. "What better meal could you serve in your own kitchen? And, remember, we have some of the best male chefs — flatjack tossers — in the country."

Tickets can be purchased from any Lemon Grove Kiwanis member, Mount Miguel Key Clubber, Little Leaguer, Bobby Soxer, Lemon Grove Junior High Band Parent, or Mount Miguel Booster.

Funds raised at this event will be used to help with educational projects, youth groups, church activities, and the Lemon Grove-Spring Valley Senior Citizens' Project.

Duggan, in one last word for the hungry, added, "Everybody come eat with us, not only to support our activities, but also to just have a really good time and start the day off right."

Councilman to View Downtown L.G.—1990

The Lemon Grove Planning Assn. will hear Councilman Jack Doherty discuss "Downtown Lemon Grove—1990" at the group's meeting tonight at 7:30 at the Community Center, according to Dick Whitmore, president.

Doherty, now a candidate for sheriff, gave a report on his planned appearance at the city council meeting Monday night.

Elements of the Broadway busines community have complained of parking and potholes on the main street.

Planning Assn. meetings are open to the public. Council is presently studying qualification of candidates for the city's official planning organization to be established in a few weeks. It will carry the title of Planning Commission.

Heavy Rains Total to 21½" Lifts Season

The month began with rain and it last for the first 6 days.

When the sun returned, 4.33 inches had been registered.

On the 5th day gauges showed 1.55 inches for a 24 hour period. Between 4 and 5 a.m. of that day 1.25 inches fell.

By days it was 1—1.40; 2—.91; 3—.02; 4—.42; 5—1.55; 6—.03, and then it was over.

The total for the season to date now stands at 21.51 inches. For the same period last year it was 7.71.

There was considerable flooding. At Broadway and Sweetwater, firemen measured the high water mark at the shopping center at the southwest corner of the intersection at 27 inches.

At the other end of Broadway, near College Grove, John Factor who operates the Volkswagen franchise reported that his "VWs are floating." Watermark on a Porsche there was at the door handles.

On Federal blvd. the roadway was "a torrent," with commercial buildings in the 6300 block reporting the watermark on walls at 7 inches.

No estimate of damage was available but it appeared to be considerable.

There's An Answer

by Mr. and Mrs. Norman Vincent Peale

Afraid to be alone?

Q. I have been fighting fear for over 17 years. It just seemed to take over all at once. I cannot bear to stay alone, day or night.

Somehow I have lived through this nightmare, but every day I'm faced with the thought that one of these days I won't have someone with me, and panic just thinking about it.

I haven't enlightened many people about this phobia because I am so ashamed. I try to keep busy, but there are those times I have time to think about being left alone and it wipes me out. I just need new hope that I can overcome this. What can you suggest?

A. You have been practicing the wrong technique. Don't fight a fear—bypass it. Start practicing courage.

Don't keep telling yourself you are afraid. Forget fear. Start telling yourself you are courageous and you will become so.

Remember Emerson's wise advice? "Do the thing you fear and the death of fear is certain."

And how do you do that? When you must stay alone, stand up to your fear. But you are never alone—God is there with you.

We have a booklet, "Overcoming Anxiety and Fear," that has helped others with concerns such as yours and a copy of it is on its way to you. Anyone else wishing a free copy may receive one by writing to use in care of Box 500, Pawling, NY 12564.

Son took his life

Q. It has been over five years since my son took his life during a mental illness. Many things keep arising such as the minister of our church saying anyone who does that has no hope of salvation.

I feel that God understood the turmoil he was going through. Many circumstances in his life, insurmountable debts due to an extravagent and dissatisfied wife who cared nothing for him.

He thought, I guess, that he could buy her love. Thus his health both physically and mentally broke.

I am still troubled and heartbroken. I keep thinking I should have been able to do something. Please help me.

A. We are sure you did everything possible to be helpful to your son. And you are not helping him or yourself by rehashing the past. That is over; let it go.

We agree with you that God understands and loves your son. And the Heavenly Father will take care of him. Release him into God's hands and be at peace.

Angry "spells"

Q. You printed a letter from a woman whose husband abuses their children when his anger is out of control. These "spells" show all the symptoms of hypoglycemia (low blood sugar).

Just before there's that sudden drop in blood sugar a surge of anger sweeps over the victim, and he or she turns in rage to vent these feelings on anyone or anything nearby.

The test for hypoglycemia takes six hours, but it should be given to everyone who is irrational or abusive. I've had this problem since childhood and have learned to control it by diet.

I have two university degrees and taught nutrition in college. Last week I was 90 years old. May God help you to help us.

A. Thank you for your interesting explanation. Your plan has certainly worked in your case and no doubt it can help others similarly afflicted.

If there is something you would like to ask Dr. and Mrs. Peale to discuss in this column, write to them in care of Box 500, Pawling, NY 12564.

"Mariachi Villa Nueva," a mariachi group composed of teenagers from Villa Nueva Apartments in San Ysidro, will perform in the mall at the Community Concourse at 12 noon on March 17.

The group, which plays and sings the colorful Mexican music, is made up of boys and girls who reside at Villa Nueva Apartments, a 400-apartment HUD subsidized housing complex for low-income families, sponsored by the Augustinians, a Catholic religious community.

Villa Nueva was selected for Title VI CETA (Comprehensive Employment and Training Act) funding in September 1977 for a special project of one-year duration for employment of a full-time mariachi teacher (under the title of Creative Arts) in order to train young people in the art of mariachi music.

This Week's RECIPE

Yankee Eggs and Connecticut Salad

If you know eight people for whom you would like to do something special . . . invite them to brunch for "Yankee Eggs."

Karen Jensen Gibson, author of The Symphony Cookbook, like most of us, knows brunch guests arrive expecting to see either the chicken or the egg.

Here's her recipe for "Yankee Eggs" and a Connecticut Salad to go with it:

YANKEE EGGS

- 2 medium apples, peeled and diced
- 4 T. chopped pecans
- Sausage drippings from 8 or 10 sausages
- 16 eggs
- ¼ cup light cream
- ½ tsp salt
- ¼ tsp. pepper
- 2 tablespoons butter
- 4 tsp. chopped chives
- 2 tablespoons minced parsley
- ¼ cup grated Cheddar cheese

Saute apples in sausage drippings and when almost done, add the chopped pecans; set aside.

Beat eggs until light and frothy, add cream and beat well. Add salt and pepper.

Heat butter in frying pan and scramble eggs. Gently add apple-pecan mixture. Garnish with chopped chives and parsley, and sprinkle the top with Cheddar cheese. Serves 8.

A Connecticut Tossed Salad

- 2 heads iceberg lettuce, torn in bite-sized pieces
- 6 green onions, sliced about ¼ inch long (tops and bottoms)
- 1 bunch red radishes, sliced
- ½ lb. fresh mushrooms, sliced
- 2 medium sized zucchini, sliced about ⅛ inch thick
- 1 cucumber, sliced
- 1 green pepper, diced
- artichoke hearts, undrain
- 1 jar (4 oz.) marinated artichoke hearts, undrained

Combine above ingredients in a very large bowl. Add your favorite dressing and toss lightly, being careful not to bruise the lettuce.

Diaper Derby Set For Expo June 21-July 4

One of the most hilarious and entertaining events at the Southern California Exposition at Del Mar last summer will be held again this year, and Special Events Director Harry Hofmann is giving early notice so contenders can begin training. Expo dates are June 21 through July 4.

The Diaper Derby, exclusively for the three-cornered set, will consist of four preliminary heats with winners of those events coming together Sunday, July 2, for the big crawl off.

Rules and regulations are simple and limited. Contestants must be less than a year old by July 2. They must crawl over a course that is 1/24th of a furlong in length, and preliminary winners must compete in the big race.

Parents can take their place along the finish line and coax their siblings but they can't touch them.

Preliminary heats are set for June 21, 23, 37 and 29.

Hofmann said merchandise prizes will be awarded winners in the preliminaries; trophies and merchandise prizes will go to the finalists July 2.

The Diaper Derby is one of several special events scheduled this summer. Entry blanks can be obtained by writing to Jo Jordan, Special Events Coordinator, Southern California Exposition, Del Mar Ca. 92014.

Opera House, Verdi Festival In SD Opera Company Plans

A theatre, expressly for the presentation of opera and a Verdi Center were pictured for future development on the San Diego opera scene by Tito Capobianco, general director of the San Diego Opera.

These and other items of high operatic interest were announced by Capobianco last week at a press conference.

Capobianco said Verdi was chosen because he was a prolific writer of operas and that some of his work have never been presented in the United States by a major opera company.

While no site has been chosen for the Verdi Center, several items of interest to Verdi fans were announced.

There is the Egypt-Italy tour April 20-May 5 where opera lovers will visit (in Italy) La Scala Opera House in Milan and in Le Roncole. Giuseppe Verdi's birthplace. Capobianco will conduct the tour personally.

The 1979 Verdi Festival will include the West Coast pretmier of "I Lombardi Alla Prima Crociata" (The Lombards at the First Crusades). It was Verdi's first opera to receive an American hearing and has not been performed by a major opera company in America since 1847. The 4-act opera recaptures the period of the Crusades to the Holy Land, ordered by Pope Urban II in 1095 A.D.

Verdi was 29 when he composed I Lombardi — the 4th of his 26 operas. Capobianco will direct it in San Diego.

The second Verdi opera during the Festival will be "La Traviata".

As a prelude to the 1979 Festival, San Diego Opera will offer 3 presentations in August this year.

"Aidia" will be performed August 4, 6, and 9; The Verdi "Requim" in concert will be August 12, and a film — "Verdi's Life" will be August 5. The 3 attractions will be at the S.D. Civic Theatre.

Freedom of speech in support of an unpopular cause is the subject of the new play "Mother Earth" at the Old Globe Theatre, Balboa Park, on Monday. The prepared reading, one of the Play Discovery Project series, will begin at 8 p.m. and is free to the public.

"Mother Earth" was written by Sanford A. Lakoff, chairman of the political science department at UCSD.

Padres First Question Must be Answered Soon

By Mike Ryan

Remember the old Abbott and Costello comedy routine about "who's on first"?

Well, the San Diego Padres are going through something along the same lines in the early portion of spring training in their efforts to come up with a third baseman.

The search won't be an easy one, either, as manager Alvin Dark has a task confronting him that reminds many onlookers of Stanley's great hunt for the elusive Dr. Livingstone.

"We want to look at all the possibilities," reflected Dark who is beginning his first full season at the helm of the Padres after having taken over for John McNamara at the end of last May.

"Right now we just want to see what we have available to us on the club and go from there. We have a couple of possibilities, but it will take some game situations to see exactly who can do what."

One thing, though, the search won't be a very lengthy one as the Padres have their backs to the wall in more ways than one in regards to coming up with a man to handle the so-called "hot corner". Not only is opening day creeping up (April 7 at San Francisco), but the various trading deadlines fall before the month of March has completed its run.

"That one of the real important factors to keep in mind," commented Padres Vice President-General Manager Bob Fontaine. "We have to devote all of our energies to this problem right now. We can't afford to wait a week or so to start working out players at the position. We have to know what's available to us before March 25 when the trading deadline boxes us in."

The key figures looming in the background at the moment are catcher-first baseman Gene Tenace and newcomer Derrel Thomas. Tenace spent the first few days of spring drills handling ground balls at third base rather than devoting full time to his catching and first base chores.

"Gene is the type of man who just wants to play every day and he doesn't really care where he's at as long as he is in the lineup," said Dark. "He played some third base for us last season so he's not exactly a stranger to the position." Thomas, on the other hand, who played for the Padres from 1972 through 74, has spent most of his major league career at second base but does have the ability and some experience to become the club's regular third sacker.

"Derrel has proven himself throughout the years to be a very versatile player so here again, while it may not be his normal position he does have some idea of what it takes."

For the record, the Padres have several players in camp who could get a look at third. Apart from Tenace and Thomas, there's last year's regular Tucker Ashford plus Pat Scanlon, and even former third baseman-turned catcher Dave Roberts and last season's second baseman Mike Champion who is ticketed for a "looksee".

Even with that number of possible candidates, the Padres will have to go some to outdo last season when they used no less than 10 men at third base: Ashford (74 games), Doug Rader (51, Mike Ivie (25), Gary Sutherland (20), Tenace (14), Scanlon (11) Bobby Valentine (10), Dave Roberts and Dave Kingman (2 each) and Merv Rettenmund (1).

"I'd say that we really need to come up with some kind of stability for the position," stated Fontaine. "We can get away with a couple of different combinations such as using Tenace at first, third or behind the plate with someone else like Thomas taking third the rest of the time.

"What we can't really afford, though, is to net trapped into a situation along the lines of last season when we ised a large number of people at the one position. "That's not a good habit to get into as it can only lead to problems along the way."

TAKE FIVE

by John E. Wirges

Don't look now but the "inside" boys are trying to do it again to Ken Norton. The New York fight folk, network television and other eastern ring wiseguys are joined in yet another assault on the career of San Diego's uncrowned King of the Heavies.

It really shouldn't come as any surprise. Fighting is a tough game and the business of it is tougher. The wiseguys of New York deem it their right to control the fight game and anybody who doesn't play according to their rules is cut from the herd and exiled to distant prairies.

Ken Norton and his manager Bob Biron do not fit into the New York fight crowd's scheme of things. They are both too damn honest for the corkscrew measure of things done to the fight business where the fog flows off the Hudson River.

It has always been that way. Fighting is BIG BUSINESS and the heavyweight championship is the biggest plum in the trade.

In the rationale of the New York (and that includes Philadelphia, Boston and all the other cities that come under New York's influence in the BUSINESS of the trade) Ken Norton is not fittin' to hold the title.

He's too honest. He's too tough. He's too likely to tell the smart guys to stuff their ideas in their well known circular repository.

As the proper heavyweight champion, Ken Norton would fight his own fights, live his own life and control his own destiny.

And that ain't no way for the heavyweight champion to act according to the big town swat battery. They know, deep in their guts, that only New York wiseguys are suited to control boxing and anything west of the Hudson is wasteland.

And, from their point of view, they work toward the good of the sport in trying to prevent such an unworthy as Norton from gaining the title. He's too honest to be good for them.

It makes little difference to them that Norton is the best fighter on planet earth these days. Try a little history on that.

Ken beat Muhammad Ali in Madison Square Garden, but he didn't get the title because New York fight judges ruled against all the evidence and stayed with the badly whipped Ali.

They thought they had an edge when Norton faced Jimmy Young thinking Ken couldn't handle Young's stalling, boxing tactics.

Someone forgot to tell Norton, because he out-boxed Young in a closer-judged-than-fought decision. On the action inside the ring, this portable-pounder had Norton a half mile ahead.

Ali ducked the winner of the Norton-Young fight because (one supposes) it was Norton and instead took on what he thought would be a tune-up with a promising kid. Ali was shocked.

Instead of the title going properly to best of the challengers, Ali "aged" it to novice Leon Spinks in a clash approved only if the winner would face Norton in short order.

Spinks figures he can make more money and take less chance of losing his suddenly-found crown by facing graybeard Ali a second time instead of giving Norton his hard-earned chance.

Norton was offered a one-sided deal where he gets peanuts for fighting Spinks in hopes he would consider the offer insulting and refuse it.

Not only is Biron honest, but he's one of the smartest men in boxing. They took the offer, realizing the payoff would be the title, not the purse.

In true eastern fashion, the promoter is hedging and Spinks has developed "sore" ribs. In the meantime Ali has taken to network TV demanding that he be given another shot at Spinks.

If ever a deck were loaded against a player the heavyweight deck is stacked against Norton. But maybe he can unstack it.

How about Norton getting on national television and offering Ali a title shot just as soon as Ken spanks Spinks and sends the youngster back in the pack where he'll have time to learn his trade.

Maybe Lee Fruin will promote the Norton-Ali scrap in San Diego's Sports Arena where the two first got together. But that is unlikely.

You see, Fruin is an honest man, too. And boxing just might not be able to handle three honest men at one fight.

Gregg Returns to Chargers

Forrest Gregg has been named offensive line coach of the San Diego Chargers by head coach Tommy Prothro again.

Gregg, 44, was the Chargers' offensive line coach in 1972 and 1973 and has been the head coach of the Cleveland Browns since 1975 after joining the Brows' staff as an assistant coach in 1974.

Forrest Gregg

"I've always thought Forrest Gregg was an outstanding coach," said Prothro. "I thought he did a fine job when he was here the first time and he did an outstanding job at Cleveland as a head coach. He was (AFC) coach of the year in 1976."

Gregg has been in the National Football League since joining the Green Bay Packers as a second-round draft choice in 1956 out of Southern Methodist University. After a year in the military in 1957, Gregg returned to the Packers and established a reputation as one of the great tackles in pro football history. He finished his playing career as a member of the Dallas Cowboys in 1971.

Gregg was named to the Pro Football Hall of Fame in 1977. His performance on the championship Green Bay teams of the 1960s still serves as a model for the offensive tackle position.

Gregg played in 188 consecutive games from 1958-71. He played on the Green Bay teams that won Super Bowls I and II and the Dallas team that won Super Bowl VI. He was named to play in the NFL Pro Bowl eight times from 1960-68.

Gregg coached Cleveland to records of 3-11, 9-5, and 6-7 in two-plus seasons as head coach. He was released by the Browns with one game remaining in 1977. His 1977 team was 5-3 when starting quarterback Brian Sipe went out for the year with an injury.

Vezie Optimistic For WAC Season

The 1977-18 basketball season came to an end earlier that the Aztecs of S.D. State U. had hoped, but it was a successful season none-the-less.

The Aztecs were defeated 64-50 by Fullerton State in the semi-finals of the PCAA Tournament last week and saw their hopes for a trip to the NCAA Playoffs dashed. Fullerton won the Tournament and will represent the PCAA in the NCAA Playoffs in Tempe.

S.D. State finished the season 19-9 overall and was 11-3 in the PC.AA. That 11-3 record was good enough for a tie for first place with Fresno State.

19 wins were the most by an Aztec team since the 1967-68 team won 21. The tie for first was the second consecutive year that State won at least a share of the conference crown and that hadn't been accomplished by an Aztec team since 1966-67 and 1967-68.

"Sure we're disappointed in not going to the NCAA Playoffs," said Aztec coach Tim Vezie, "but I still feel we had a successful season. We won a lot of games, set some records and played some very exciting basketball.

"We have three of our starters back for next season along with several key reserves and three redshirts. If we recruit well, we could have a good team as we enter the Western Athletic Conference."

Carlsbad Camp Opens

South Carlsbad State Beach Campground reopens March 17 to accommodate spring vacationers and will be open through the remainder of the camping season. Fees are unchanged at $4 a night campsite.

The game is scheduled for a Mexican National Holiday, honoring the birthday of Benito Juarez, former President of the Republic.

NASL Western Division rival California Surf will be the Socks' opponent at Vista High School, Oceanside, March 25 at 2 p.m. The game is being sponsored by the Santa Margarita YMCA, with tickets priced at $4 for adults and $1 for youth under 18 and students with I.D.'s. High School Motocross Title Target at S.B.

Strong racing teams from Santana, El Cajon, Helix and Valhalla are expected to head a field of some 160 riders who will open the high school motocross season Wednesday, March 15, at South Bay Park Speedway 117.

The 1978 series, a battle for the Coca-Cola San Diego County High School Motocross championship, will start with motos at 7:30 p.m. Gates will open at 4:30 and practice is set for 6 p.m.

Santana High will be back to defend its title but El Cajon and Helix High have informed motocross promoter Bob Basile that they are strong enough to furnish a solid challenge. The El Cajon team will be bolstered by Steve Walker, a big 15-year-old rider who will be aboard a 125cc bike.

Meanwhile, Scott Burnworth of Jamul, who was runnerup for the national title last year, will strengthen the Valhalla team in the intermediate 125cc ranks while Bobby Sullivan of Lakeside should bolster the ranks of El Capitan High.

Competition will be held on a mile-long course which will be altered later in the season as the soil becomes drier, according to Basile, who said he is encouraged by the great response from school entries. Last year, 39 schools were represented which signified an increase of 10 schools over the previous year.

Coca-Cola is lending its support to the high school racing program and will present jackets to representatives of the winning team at the conclusion of the series.

Trophies also will be awarded by the company to the first, second and third-place teams. Individual class trophies will be given by the track management as in the past.

Basile said there will be a new scoring system to better equate the performances of riders.

The program will run concurrently with the professional events. Basile said riders would not be able to run with factory motorcycles in the high school series.

Ascot Opening Delayed

J. C. Agajanian's Ascot Park, frequently the site of the deciding race in the American Motorcyclist Assn. Grand National Series, will feature international competition in a delayed 1978 inaugural, Thursday night March 16 at 8 p.m.

Originally scheduled for this week, the opener at Ascot was postponed on account of the recent rain storm. The deluge halted construction work on the front crash wall and it oversoaked the dirt track.

The "U.S. versus the World" championship speedway motorcycle series, usually fought on the shorter tracks in Southern California will include the half-mile course at Ascot in its sex-race agenda for the first time.

Rundell's Performance Brings Ringfull of Cash

Mike Quarry Returns Friday To Head Coliseum Boxing Card

By Max Goodwin

One of the most exciting boxing matches ever seen at the S. D. Coliseum was the last scrap of a classy 5-bout card Friday night.

San Diego's Mike "Little Animal" Rundell KO'd Victor "Kid Zorita" Martinez of L.A. after each had the other down twice. The two slugging welterweights never let up during the fight scheduled for 5 rounds. None of the knockdowns were of the slip-and-fall types. All came from solid, dazing blows. At 1:40 of the 3rd round Rundell decked Martinez for the 5th knockdown of the fight. Martinez couldn't respond. Rundell. who is remindful of Art Hafey, now has a 5-0 record and is likely to add more victories before he loses his undefeated standing.

Fans showered money into the ring after the fight, so much that it took cornermen more than 5 minutes to gather it up. It was the fans' way of showing extreme pleasure and appreciation.

The 10-round main event between middleweights Robbie Epps of L.A. and Lalo Barrientos of Bakersfield ended at 56 seconds of the 2nd round after he took a hard right to the side of the head. He had been jolted by Epps several times in each of the 2 rounds he survived.

In the opener, Spring Valley's Willie Hall, 139, lost a split decision to Manuel Lara of S.D.

An area lightweight, Eric Bonilla of Paradise Hills who came in as a substitute fighter, took a split decision over Jose Castro. Bonilla looked more impressive than his 2-2 record indicates.

In a 6-round junior welterweight bout, Rickey Weigel, a handsome, blonde youngster out of Pasadena, KO'd Hector Fernandez of Tijuana at 2:55 of the 2nd round.

Friday night it'll be more of the same. Mike Quarry, whose fight with Ronnie Wilson of San Diego, drew a rainstorm of fan-thrown cash after his split-decision victory at the Coliseum two weeks ago, return to meet Alvero Lopez of Los Angeles. Quarry is due to fight Mike Spinks, brother of heavyweight champion Leon Spinks in Las Vegas April 14 in a fight originally scheduled for March 31.

Also on the Friday card will be:

A 6-round semi-main, with Marine Sgt. Lennie Provo 5-0 matched against Junior Albers, Quarry's stablemate who has a 6-1 record. They're lightheavyweights.

Rueben Martinez of Tijuana fights Tudu Pineda of Mexicali in a 6-round lightweight scrap.

In a 4-round lightweight bout, Arturo Vidrio, a former Mexican Golden Gloves champion of Tijuana is carded against Gary Pittman of L.A.

Two 3-rounders open the show. Mario Cabral meets Enrique Parades of Spring Valley. They're bantams. They fought to a draw two weeks ago.

Welterweights Willie Hall of Spring Valley and Manuel Lara of S.D. are in a rematch. Lara won a split decision a week ago. Action starts at 8:15 p.m.

The Coliseum is at 15th and E sts. in downtown S.D.

SDSU to Host AIAW Gymnastics

Mariners Hope to Leave Losing Track Tonight

The San Diego Mariners of the Pacific Hockey League return home tonight hoping to get back on track. The Mariners are in the midst of a 4-game losing string, after coming up on the short end 4 times in 4 nights. The Mariners had a tough schedule, playing 4 games in 4 nights—3 of them on the road.

The San Diego skaters will be looking to move back into a tie for 3rd place with Long Beach in the league standings tonight as the Rockets visit the Sports Arena. The Rockets handed the Mariners their only shutout of the season Sunday, taking a 4-0 victory. That gives the Rockets 26 points in the league standings, and the Mariners 24. It'll be the 10th meeting between the 2 teams, with the Rockets having won 5 of the contests and the Mariners 4. The last time they played here, the Mariners held on for a 2-1 win. The Mariners have in fact won 3 of the 4 games played in San Diego.

The Rockets will be led by Dale Smedsmo, who leads the league in penalty minutes with 124. They also have a couple of new faces . . . Center Bryan McSheffrey and Defenseman Terry Ballingall. Both looked impressive against the Mariners Sunday evening.

The Mariners now have a new scoring leader. Captain Bob Sicinski now leads the team in total points with 36. He also leads in the assists category with 25. Center Bob Sauve leads the team in goals scored with 16. He also has 18 assists for 24 points.

Thursday night has been designated as "Advertisers Night." Each of the sponsors in the Mariner program have coupons good for a two dollar discount on the $5 and $6 tickets. The coupons can be turned in at the box office window when purchasing the ticket.

The Thursday night contest can also be heard on KSON Radio (1240 A M), beginning with the Coach Butch Barber Show at 7:50.

The game against the Rockets begins a three game series. The Mariners travel to San Francisco Friday night, then return home Saturday night to entertain the Phoenix Roarrunners. The game in San Francisco will be the last trip into the Cow Palace for the Mariners on the regular season schedule. They return to the Sports Arena Saturday night supported by a 25c Beer Night — a very popular promotion with the Mariner fans.

The San Diego Skaters now have 12 games remaining on the regular season schedule, 5 on the road and 7 at home. The last regular season game is set for April 8 at Long Beach against the Rockets.

'Holiday Bowl' Fathered By 'Bowl Game Association

Following close scrutiny of over 70 different proposed names, the San Diego Bowl Game Assn. has named the newest post season football game the' "Holiday Bowl."

The announcement was made Tuesday by the President of the Bowl Game Assn. G. "Vinnie" Vinson.

"Over 30 hours were spent in meeting alone to decide upon the name of the game," said Vinson. "We took into consideration the media polls, names of other games and more importantly what the name means to the San Diego area."

San Diego and tourism are mentioned in the same breath by people all over America," according to Vinson. "The fact that the game will be played during the Christmas season makes the name that much more appropriate. By calling the game the "Holiday Bowl" we tell the country what San Diego is all about."

Several factors were considered in selecting the name including promotability, a name identifiable with the San Diego area, recognizability and general popularity.

Dal Watkins, Executive Director of the San Diego Convention and Visitors Bureau and the Chairman of the Name the Bowl Committee presented the new name to the executive committee of the San Diego Bowl Game Association, which approved the title "Holiday Bowl" unanimously.

The Charity Committee, headed by George Webster, has selected two charities that will be associated with the Holiday Bowl. The Institute for Burn Medicine located at 3737 5th ave. and the S.D. Children's Hospital and Health Center based at 8001 Frost st. Both organizations are locally oriented and serve the City and County of San Diego.

In still another Holiday Bowl announcement, the Poinsettia has been named the official flower for the game.

"The Poinsettia is the flower of the holiday season," said Vinson. "This beautiful flower is grown extensively in the San Diego area. We feel that the Poinsettia is an excellent choice to be the official flower of the Holiday Bowl."

The Holiday Bowl will annually feature the champions of the Western Athletic Conference (WAC) against a major nationally ranked team. The first game is scheduled for December, 1978 at S.D. Stadium.

The S.D. Bowl Game Assn will be seeking official sanction for the game at the April meetings of the NCAA in Tucson.

Canal Treaty Decried

February 22, 1978

Dear Editor:

Why didn't President Carter level with the American people in his recent "fireside chat" concerning the proposed Panama Canal treaties? The new pact does not guarantee United States naval vessels priority passage in times of necessity or an undeniable U. S. right to defend the waterway if it comes under Panama.

He gave us his interpretation of some of the treaties' provisions, but Panamanian ideas differ markedly. With such ambiguous language, who is right?

How can we trust General Torrijos? He makes no secret of his Communist sympathies. He established his iron-clad rule of Panama in a military coup more than 10 years ago. All opponents of his regime have been silenced. Panamanian citizens do no enjoy individual liberty and free speech. All opposing political parties are banned. Torrijos' poor management has bankrupt Panama and it owes the U. S. and other countries more than $3.5 billion. Forty percent of his annual budget alone goes to pay the interest on loans.

Threats that we will no longer be able to operate the canal if the new tries are not ratified seem to be the only motivation for the pacts. The best interests of this country, its security and future economic stability should be the main consideration. Most Americans oppose ratification. Hopefully, U. S. Senators will reflect the opinions of their constituents and vote "no".

School Parents Warned

February 21, 1978

Dear Sir:

I hope many parents will read this message. Your children have always been taught by teachers who have been free from any form of compulsory unionism. That has changed.

Under the new collective bargaining law, SB 160, teachers may be compelled to pay an "agency" fee to the union or lose their jobs. Teachers' freedom of choice is lost when they are "taxed" by a private organization that has the right to determine who may remain in teaching. Teacher unions, as private organizations, should be required to compete for their income just like any other business.

Agency Shop has already been negotiated by the California Teachers Assn. in over 30 district contracts throughout the state. You can keep it out of yours by persuading your school board that compulsory fees for teachers are against your interest as a parent.

Doesn't an open society depend on "Open Shop" for your children's teachers?

Sincerely,
Nora Ernst

Deplores Zoning

February 27, 1978

Dear Editor:

My family and I have been residents of Lemon Grove for 22 years.

I have seen this area change from a small, sleepy town into a nice sized city.

I believe the City of Lemon Grove should start to project some future plan zoning for commercial businesses. Broadway is starting to resemble the Indianapolis Pit Stop!

We should have attractive new businesses which would complement our city. We pay first rate property taxes . . . then we should demand a first rate city!

Can one imagine St. John of the Cross Church (one of the nicest looking structures in the city) having a gray block building which will house a transmission, tire company and lubrication station—smack in front of this beautiful building.

This kind of commercial businesses should be planned in an industrial park area of a city not on the city's main street.

Let's do something in changing our zoning before it's too late. Let's not literally become a lemon, but rather the lemon blossom.

Security Shop Sells Protection From Criminals

Two former law-enforcement officers have opened The Security Shop in the College Grove Shopping Center. Andy Nossal, formerly of the Sheriff's Lemon Grove office is co-owner.

The unique concept of the shop is its variety store aspect in carrying as wide a range of security and safety related products. It gives consumers the choice of various types of personal self-defense items as well as alarm systems for the home, auto and business. Systems range from "hard wire" to "wireless", "Ultra-sonic" to "radar" and "thermal sensor" to "sound discriminator" devices.

The shop also carries safety related items such as, emergency light, pool alarms, safety ladders, auto safety kits, and fire/smoke alarms. Additionally, some extremely good literature for the do-it-yourself homeowner are availab'e.

"In today's society, enforcement officials acknowledge that police manpower is inadequate for its purpose and that citizens must take all available precautions to protect their loved ones and their property," Nossal said.

The shop offers tools and the advice to help citizens accomplish this extremely difficult task.

Congressman Bob Wilson Seeks Fourteenth Term

U.S. Representative Bob Wilson (R-San Diego) announced that he will seek reelection to a 14th term in Congress and will campaign on his record of service to the San Diego area.

Wilson listed jobs and the quality of life as the major issues of concern among the constituents of the 41st Congressional District in which he will be running.

Among Wilson's goals are increased employment for San Diego, continued pushing for greater development of energy resources, improvement of benefits for senior citizens, and the enhancement of San Diego's status as the Navy's most active homeport.

Wilson cited his experience and seniority in the House of Representatives as factors which enable him to be of maximum service to the people of San Diego and the residents of the 41st District.

The San Diego lawmaker said that San Diego must continue to broaden its employment base and pointed to his own efforts as the ranking Republican on the House Armed Services Committee in bringing over $150 million in military construction to the San Diego area during his last term. "Military construction translates into jobs for San Diegans," Wilson said.

During his terms in office, Wilson has worked on many successful projects, which include measures that freed Marine Corps property for the site of the UCSD Medical School and Veterans Hospital, provided for the dredging of San Diego Bay with the spoil used to create Harbor Island, and that established a regional office of the Veterans Administration in San Diego to service the county's over 240,000 veterans.

Voters' League Lists March Dates

Moldy Walnuts -Dog Killers

The California Veterinary Medical Assn. is again issuing a warning to pet owners, especially dog owners, to be particularly careful this year in walnut growing areas. Moldy walnuts lying on the ground can poison your dog! In some cases this poison can be fatal.

While there is some question as to whether it is the mold or the walnut that contains the toxin, dog owners living in walnut growing areas should be aware of the danger. Cases of walnut poisoning are seen during the wet months of the year.

Symptoms consist of convulsions beginning 20-30 minutes following the ingestion of walnuts that have been on wet ground long enough to become moldy and partially decomposed. The neurotoxin contained in the moldy walnut is not of itself fatal, but the convulsions produced will eventually involve some organs of the dog which he cannot do without.

Prompt veterinary attention is essential.

Fortunately, most dogs that arrive at the hospital still alive, can be saved. Treatment consists of anesthesia, maintained for 24-48 hours, or long enough for the dog's own body to detoxify and eliminate the poison. Successful treatment produced complete recovery without aftereffects.

If your landscaping includes walnut trees, care should be taken to clean up dropped walnuts before they become moldy.

L.A. Attorney Enters Race For Governor

Ed Clark, a successful 47-year-old Los Angeles attorney, has declared his candidacy for Governor of California, following his nomination by the Libertarian Party of California Monday.

The Libertarian Party received the third largest amount of votes in the 1976 California election.

Clark announced "total support" for the Jarvis-Gann tax initiative ballot measure and indicated that taxes and schools will be major issues in his campaign.

"The biggest single tax cost in California's government is for education," Clark noted. "The compulsory public school system—its defects and costs —will be a key matter of discussion in my campaign," he said.

Clark, an urbane graduate of Harvard Law School and Dartmouth College, has been active in politics since 1956. He is a former Naval officer.

"I am in total support of the Jarvis-Gann tax initiative. This is the only true hope for tax relief which Californians have had in years. This initiative will pass, and the next vital step will be to keep the pressure on Sacramento in order to prevent off-setting increases in sales, income and other taxes," he said.

Clark reminded that fewer than 178,000 votes separated the two major candidates in the 1974 Governor's race.

"I expect the race ahead between the Democrat and the Republican will be a close one and, therefore, I expect the votes cast for me will determine who the next Governor of California will be," Clark asserted.

"My campaign will represent the balance of power between the Republicans and the Democrats. I can assure every voter in this state that my candidacy will force the Republican and Democratic nominees to address the issues of liberty in taxes and education," he said.

Auto Club to Push for Lower Souvenir Duty

The Automobile Club of Southern California is appealing to Congress to up the duty-free personal exemption from $100 to $250 for souvenirs brought into the United States.

Also in the plan is a provision to tax personal goods valued between $251 and $599 a flat ten percent.

As it now stands, for merchandise brought into the U.S., items are taxed based on per-item rates.

The law the Auto Club seeks to change is a 1930's vintage tariff and trademark law.

Metric System; How it Works

By John Corbett

Here are some questions answered by Valerie Antoine, vice president, U.S. Metric Society. The questions are those most heard among those who have yet to see the advantage of converting to the metric system.

Q: We have a perfectly good measuring system, so why doesn't the rest of the world change to our system?

A: Once you learn to use metric system units, you'll understand that it really is easier to learn and use than our present measurement system. However . . . with over 90% of the world already using the metric system (or in the process of converting to it), there isn't much hope that we can convince all those countries to adopt our cumbersome measurements.

Q: Why has the United States decided to begin conversion to the metric system?

A: The main reason for converting to metric units concerns a long-felt need to arrange for making product parts interchangeable worldwide . . . and to have a common world language of measurement because modern technology is making this a smaller world where better communication is required.

Many of us have had the experience of buying a foreign car or appliance, then waiting weeks for metric-sized repair parts to arrive when something broke or wore out. The same problem occurs when people overseas buy our inch-based products and need repair parts.

Q. We're finding it easier to find parts, here, for foreign-made products. Why don't our foreign customers also stock the inch-product parts they may need?

A: They do. But inventory and storage expenses on the parts are making the metric parts more costly for us; and the inch repair parts taking up space and extra clerical work in the foreign countries also are more expensive for the overseas customers. This makes the competition for foreign trade even more difficult for U.S. industry exporters, as they are competing with foreign companies whose products already are metric.

Meat's Out—Adventist Food Professor Claims

RIVERSIDE — Professor of applied nutrition has found what he claims to be evidence that eating meat will kill you.

The professor, Dr. John A. Scharffenberg of Loma Linda University, claims he has data which shows meat-eating men had a 64 percent death rate as compared to 40 percent mortality rates for lacto-ovo vegetarians (persons who eat only dairy and egg products) and 23 percent for those total meat abstainers.

All the men tested abstained from pork, shellfish, alcohol, tobacco, coffee and tea.

Scharffenberg did his studies with the backing of the Seventh-Day Adventist church.

Briggs Demands Prop. 13 Answer From Opponents

Senator John V. Briggs, (R-Fullerton) a Republican candidate for Governor, said that he is challenging Evelle Younger and Ed Davis to clearly state their position for or against the Jarvis Property tax Relief Initiative (Proposition 13).

"The people must vote Yes or No. If the people must make their decision that unequivocally, I believe a candidate for Governor of the State should be able to do no less," Briggs declared.

Senator Briggs is the first and only candidate to announce "full support" for the property tax relief and reform plan which will appear on the June Primary Ballot as Proposition 13.

"I believe the Jarvis Plan is sound if we have a Governor with the courage to cut the budget. Only 10-15% of state and local expenditures need to be eliminated and property taxes can be cut by an average of 66% without any increase in other taxes. I know there is more than 15% waste in government spending! As Governor, I will make the necessary cuts," Briggs promised.

This Week's Question:

Can a mo-ped ride in a bicycle lane?

Answer:

A mo-ped can ride in a bicycle lane if the lane is within or adjacent to a roadway and mo-peds in no event may travel at a speed greater than is reasonable and prudent.

Operators must not travel in a manner which endangers the safety of bicyclists using the lane.
